

Quotes By Evolutionists (And Others) About Evolution

"Paleontologists have discovered a new skeleton in the closet of human ancestry that is likely to force science to revise, if not scrap, current theories of human origins.?" Reuters reported that the discovery left scientists of human evolution . . . confused, saying, 'Lucy may not even be a direct human ancestor after all.'" USA Today, March 21, 2001.

"Evolution is a fairy tale for grown-ups. This theory has helped nothing in the progress of science. It is useless." Professor Louis Bounoure, Director of Research, National Center of Scientific Research, The Advocate, 8 March 1984.

"I myself am convinced that the theory of evolution, especially the extent to which it has been applied, will be one of the great jokes in the history books of the future." Malcolm Muggeridge (British philosopher), The Advocate, March 8 1984.

"Evolution is unproved and unprovable. We believe it because the only alternative is special creation, and that is unthinkable" Sir Arthur Keith. Criswell, W.A. (1972), Did Man Just Happen? p. 73, Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan).

"Scientists who go about teaching that evolution is a fact of life are great con-men, and the story they are telling may be the greatest hoax ever. In explaining evolution, we do not have one iota of fact." Dr. T. N. Tahmisian (Atomic Energy Commission), The Fresno Bee, August 20, 1959.

"Scientists concede that their most cherished theories are based on embarrassingly few fossil fragments and that huge gaps exist in the fossil record." Time magazine, Nov. 7, 1977.

"As by this theory, innumerable transitional forms must have existed. Why do we not find them embedded in the crust of the earth?" Charles Darwin, Evolution or Creation, p.139.

"If pressed about man's ancestry, I would have to unequivocally say that all we have is a huge question mark." Richard Leakey, paleo-anthropologist.

"The more scientists have searched for the transitional forms that lie between species, the more they have been frustrated." Newsweek, November 3, 1980.

"Often a cold shudder has run through me, and I have asked myself whether I may have not devoted myself to a fantasy." Charles Darwin, Life and Letters, 1887, Vol. 2, p. 229.

"I would rather believe in fairy tales than in such wild speculation." Sir Ernest Chain, co-holder of 1945 Nobel Prize for developing penicillin (The Life of Ernest Chain, Ronald W. Clark, pp. 147-148).

“The main problem in reconstructing the origins of man is lack of fossil evidence: all there is could be displayed on a dinner table.” New Scientist, 20 May, 1982.

A Chinese farmer glued together the head and body of a primitive bird and the tail and hind limbs of a dromaeosaur dinosaur, and in 1999 completely fooled the world-wide scientific community into thinking that they had found the “missing link” between carnivorous dinosaurs and modern birds. [National Geographic Magazine, Vol. 196, No. 5, November, 1999]. Named Archaeoraptor said: “this fossil find constitutes the most recent evolution fraud... that we know of.” Storrs L. Olson of the Smithsonian Institution said: “National Geographic has reached an all-time low for engaging in sensationalistic, unsubstantiated, tabloid journalism.”
