

Information About Chemtrails Being Sprayed Everywhere

CHEMtrails are not the same as CONtrails... They are NOT the result of water vapor from burning jet fuel. Water-vapor-induced CONtrails dissipate very quickly and require very cold temperatures to even form. On the other hand, CHEMtrails dissipate very slowly and can literally look like long straight-line clouds. They are deliberate chemical sprays containing toxic heavy metals (and other dangerous substances) designed to poison us and our soil and water, using the excuse that it is a necessary and helpful way of dealing with climate change. Why would anyone want to do such damage to us and our environment, while claiming they are HELPING our environment? You need to understand - as hard as that may be - that the super rich and powerful people who control governments around the world are just plain evil, and really do want to exterminate us "useless eaters", as they view us. Perhaps this story titled "The Auschwitz Syndrome" will shed more light on this subject for you. Governments and the very large media groups they control are doing an excellent job of:

- hiding information about chemtrails
- censoring anyone reporting on the truth about chemtrails
- creating disinformation campaigns against anyone trying to expose this atrocity

The most common tactic used to discredit people reporting the truth about chemtrails is to call those reporters unreliable conspiracy theorists and also falsely claim that there is no such thing as CHEMtrails... there are only CONtrails.

Here is a photo of an airplane fitted with chemtrail chemical tanks on the inside:

Here is an explanation of how contrails (water vapor trails) cannot even form/appear in our skies unless the planes are at a very cold altitude above our planet:

A contrail (normal jet trail) could never form below -35°C and even at -35°C it needs a 100% relative humidity to form.
To become persistent it needs -40°C and a 60% RH.

Researchers using air, water and soil testing, have determined that there are MANY types of chemtrails. All sorts of dangerous chemicals and biological agents are being sprayed on us. Those chemicals include: mercury, aluminum, barium, magnesium, lead, arsenic, uranium, bacteria, mold spores, and fungus. Chemtrails are now commonly associated with many health problems, including respiratory-related illnesses. Other health problems associated with exposure to chemtrails include: sinus problems, fatigue, headaches, ringing in the ears, itchy skin, joint pain, salty or metallic taste in the air, muscle aches, brain fog, nausea and irritability. There are even some types of chemtrails that have been associated with flu-like symptoms.
