

Why Are So Many People Developing Immune System Disorders?

Based on what I know of diseases and the medical profession, I believe that the many immune system disorders we are seeing come out of the woodwork are probably caused by things I have listed below. My knowledge is based on personal research, over many decades, regarding the illnesses and deaths of friends, cousins, aunts, uncles, parents, my spouse and even some of my pets. When I was growing up in the 50s, 60s and 70s, there was little if any mention of these many - now common - immune system disorders and "mystery" diseases - diseases that the medical establishment claims they have no idea what the causes could be:

Alzheimers

AIDS (acquired immunodeficiency syndrome)

Lupus
